

A clothing adventure for anyone who loves dressing up.

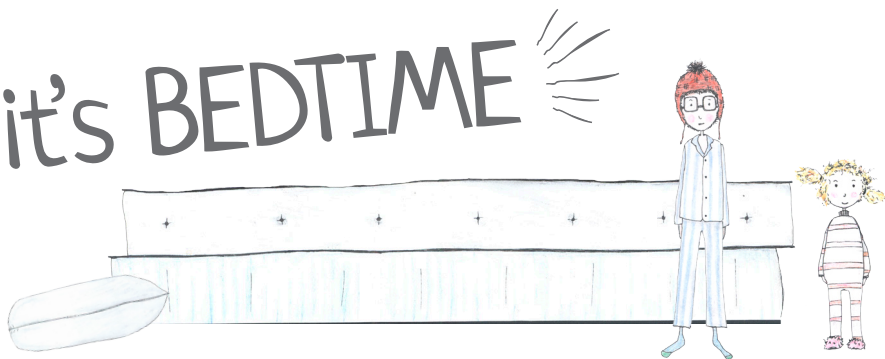

“A vibrant, participatory treat
for anyone with younger children.”

Susan Darlington, Morning Star

it's BEDTIME

But, instead of getting ready for bed, two siblings use their imaginations to turn their room into a wonderland of mess!

While playing dress-up that leads to a mountain top rescue, the older brother loses his special hat and so begins an adventure to find it! After some great new encounters where a shirt becomes a fantastical creature and a sock dance rocks the wardrobe, they both discover the joy of turning things inside out.

Performances include a “free play” session at the end of the show, allowing the children to dress up & invent their own clothing adventures with props from the show.
